BIG ELK MEETING MONDAY, APRIL 16

The Elk meeting which was to have taken place last night, at the request of outside officers, has been postponed till Monday, April 16, when it will take place in the Masonic hall at 8 o'clock in the evening.

That this branch will go over successfully is now assured, and to suggest that it might not function just as successfully as every other Alberta Branch of the order has been doing for years, is, according to Tony McKinley of the Alberta Elks Assn., a reflection on the selfishness, the ability, and the friendliness of both the urban and rural citizens of this community, which they do not deserve. Besides that, people here as well as other places, like fun. Several who find that they will not be able to attend Monday's meeting are sending in their $20.00 fee so that they will be placed on the Charter.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. G. Hempseed wish to thank the people of Carbon and District for their kind sympathy and assistance given during the illness and death of their mother. Also those who sent floral tributes.

The Financial Statement of the rink will be published next week.

ANNUAL MEETING OF GOLF CLUB ON FRIDAY EVENING

The Annual Meeting of the Carbon Golf Club will be held in the Municipal Office on Friday evening at 8 p.m. sharp. All those who are members as well as those who are interested in the game, are asked to attend.

CAME ASS'N AWAY TO A GOOD START

The Carbon Game Association, which was formed here some time ago, is away to a good start and already sixteen members have paid their dues, with a possibility of many more doing so in the near future, especially a number of the farmers who are interested, but who have not been approached by the committee. The Carbon Association is placing an order for six dozen of the Pheasant eggs, which are being brought to Canada from the States, and it will only be a matter of a short time before these eggs are hatched out and the birds ready for distribution.

The following are the members who have already paid their dues: Messrs. C.H. Nash, W. Braisher, L. Poxon, R. Barr, G. Malton, J. Castiglione, A.F. McKibbin, D.G. Code, S.F. Torrance, G. Peters, J. Ohlhauser, J. McLeod, Emil Ohlhauser, Bob Reid, E. J. Rouleau, Dr. McFarlane and T.R. Olive.

The membership fee is only $1 and anyone wishing to become a member of this Association may do so by handing in their name to the secretary, E. J. Rouleau.

HUGH MACDONALD ORATORY WINNER

The final in the Oratorical Contest for the Carbon-Three Hills district was held in the Farmers Exchange hall last Wednesday night and a large crowd turned out to hear the young orators predict the future of Canada. The first speaker of the evening was Clarence Evans of Three Hills, and he depicted the future Canada in all its glory and natural resources. Hugh MacDonald of Carbon was the other speaker and although his subject matter was little, if any, better than that of his opponent, his delivery and style of speech won him the unanimous decision over the Three Hills boy.

G. Peters acted as chairman for evening, and the judges were Messrs. H. Thorson of Three Hills, D. G. Code of Carbon and L. B. Hart of Gamble.

During the evening Mrs. McKibbin and Miss Watkins favored the audience with piano duets; Mrs. Torrance rendered vocal solos; Herbert Congo gave a reading; the Trail Rangers sang a few songs; Mrs. Malton gave a monologue, and Mesdames Malton and Peters, with Messrs. Jealous and McGregor, formed a quartette which sang numbers equal to the high quality of the other numbers of the evening. During the time allotted for the judges' decision L. Poxon led the crowd in community singing.

J. A. Connolly went up to Three Hills on Sunday to get his car, which he was forced to leave there last week on account of the condition of the roads.

Railway Construction in the West

Only a few years ago there was a feeling throughout Canada that the construction of railways in the Dominion had been rather overdone. This opinion was freely stated by many men in public life, by bank presidents and financiers, and found expression in newspapers all over the country. The statement was frequently made that Canada had built railways fifty years in advance of the time when they would be needed and the population and productive capacity of the country warranted. The greatest financial danger confronting the Dominion, it was alleged, was its heavy commitments on account of railways.

The fact that Canada possesses the greatest railway mileage per capita of any country in the world, and the further fact that a few years ago during the war the Canadian Northern, Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways got into financial difficulties and had to be taken over by the Dominion Government, and that for some years following during the post-war depression the Canadian National was operated at a heavy financial loss, no doubt accounted for these rather pessimistic views. An entirely different opinion exists today.

When the C.P.R. was first projected the same faint-hearted views prevailed. The idea of a transcontinental railway across Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific, crossing thousands of miles of undeveloped prairie land and over the Rocky Mountains, was ridiculed in the English press as the dream of madmen, and even in Canada it was predicted that such a railway would never earn the cost of its axle grease. The world realizes today how false all these dire predictions have proven to be.

The opinions expressed only a few years ago during the anxious days of the war and the world depression which followed are proving to be equally erroneous.

In a most instructive address before the Canadian Club at Regina recently, Mr. Cyril Young, of the Industrial Development Department of the Canadian National Railways, stated that for hundreds of miles along the main line of the new transcontinental, through the clay belt of Ontario, the railway was earning an operating surplus, while bringing about settlement and building up important industries, giving to Canada what heretofore it has lacked, depth in addition to its immense width.

In the past, Canada has boasted of its boundaries resting upon two oceans, east and west. Now, with the rapid pushing forward of the Hudson Bay Railway, Canada looks forward with eager anticipation and confidence to the day not far distant when its commerce will likewise pass through a third ocean on the north. And even before that railway is completed to tide-water, a branch line is being rushed to completion in order to handle the enormous traffic which will result from the development of the Flin Flon and other mining areas of the north which, it is predicted, will rival the richest mineral areas in the known world.

Today, instead of believing that railway construction has been overdone in Canada, the two great railway systems of the Dominion are steadily increasing their construction programmes. Last year Parliament authorized an extensive branch lines construction programme for the Canadian National, largely in Western Canada, and providing for the building within three years of some hundreds of miles of new railways. That work, which was started last year, is to be pushed with vigor during 1928.

Nor does the C.P.R. lag behind. The annual report of that Company issued last month records the fact that during 1927 no less than 203 miles of new branch lines were graded and track laid on 170 miles, while for the year 1928 the directors recommend the building of no less than eleven extensions in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan involving the construction of an additional 247 miles of new lines.

Not to be outdone by the West, the Ontario Government is steadily pushing its system northward towards Hudson Bay, while branch feeders are spreading out into districts where mining developments are taking place.

The Government at Ottawa is confronted with applications for new railway charters for lines in northern Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia aggregating thousands of miles with a view to providing for the opening up and development of the north country and the creation of new outlets to the Pacific.

These are the answers now being given to those who predicted disaster for Canada on account of its railway construction of a few short years ago. Take Saskatchewan as an example. Youngest among the provinces it already enjoys a railway mileage second only to that of Ontario, and during this year of 1928 work will be in progress upon approximately 500 miles of new branch lines, not including the Hudson Bay Railway and the Flin Flon branch, both of which will directly serve the Province.

And as if to provide the final answer to the faint-hearted of a few years ago, the Canadian National has turned its operating deficits into substantial operating surpluses, surpluses sufficiently large to meet all the interest payments on bonds and debentures held by the public, while, through the encouragement given to settlement and industrial development all over the country, the Federal Government is receiving a substantial, albeit indirect, return for the money Canada has invested in that system.

Railway development, past, present, and future, is the foundation upon which Canadians are erecting a strong, prosperous, and ultimately self-contained nation, a nation that is destined to occupy a place in the very front rank of world powers.

A SPRING TONIC AN AID TO HEALTH

You Can Lay the Foundation Of Good Health Now By Building Up Your Blood and Strengthening Your Nerves Through the Use Of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The good old fashion of taking a tonic in the Springtime, like most of the customs of our grandparents, is based upon sound common sense and good medical practice. Winter is always a trying time for those who are not in rugged health. Many men, women and children go through the winter on reserve strength they have stored up during the sunny summer months, and grow increasingly pale and languid as the spring days approach. A tonic for the blood and nerves at this time will do much for such people, by putting color in the cheeks and banishing that tired feeling that worries thousands of people at this season of the year.

It is impossible to be energetic if your blood is thin and weak, or if your nerves are frayed or shattered. You cannot compete with others if you do not get refreshing sleep at night, or if your appetite is poor or you are losing weight. You need a tonic at this time to add to your efficiency now, as well as to save you from suffering later on. And in all the realm of medicine, there is no safer or better tonic than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills tone and enrich the blood which circulates through every portion of the body, strengthening jaded nerves and run-down organs, and bringing a feeling of new strength and energy to weak, easily tired, despondent men, women and children.

Mrs. L. Hupman, Summerville Centre, N.S., writes:—"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been of the greatest benefit to me. A few years ago I was in a badly run down condition. I became so weak and nervous that I could scarcely go about and doing my housework left me completely used up. Everything seemed to worry me, and I was in a very discouraged condition when I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and continuing their use I fully regained my health. Since then I always take a few boxes in the Spring to build me up for the hot weather, and always I find the best results. I therefore cheerfully recommend these pills as the best of health builders.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TRANSFIGURATION AND SERVICE

Golden Text: "He that abideth in Me, and I in him, the same beareth much fruit; for apart from Me ye can do nothing."—John 15:5.

Lesson: Mark 9:2-29.

Devotional Reading: John 15:1-8.

Explanations and Comments

The Transfiguration, verses 2-8. — Six days after Peter's expression of his conviction that Jesus is the Christ, Jesus took Peter, James, and John apart from the rest and ascended a high mountain where he was transfigured before them. The other disciples may have been too superstitious or too dull of comprehension for such a revelation of His glory.

"The longer we live the more profoundly we believe that no one has actually more than two or three friends. He is a friend—and only he—to whom you can lay bare your heart without the pledge of secrecy. The real friend is interested in you—your joys, your triumphs, your failures become his very own."

Luke 9:20 says that the fashion of His countenance was altered; Matthew 17:2 says "His face did shine as the sun, the glory of the Godhead burst through the veil of the flesh." "It was not a splendour that fell on Him from without, and lighted Him up; the glory came from within; it corresponded to something going on in His mind."—Davidson. It was as He prayed, Matthew and Luke tell us, that this transfiguration took place. The story is preceded and followed in the Gospels by Christ's predictions of suffering, death, and resurrection. The Transfiguration was a preparation for the events so near at hand.

"On that mountain, He laid Himself like another Isaac on the altar, and he knew that the sacrifice would be demanded. The very glory of the event contains a hint of the struggle which had been going on in His mind. He was no impassive hero of a romantic history; He was a Soul in the agony of a momentous spiritual transaction. The hour had come when He was to make a voluntary dedication of Himself for a sacrifice than which history knows no sublimer; and the self-consecration was destined to be met by a distinct communication of divine approval. As He was praying about His Passion he entered into the ecstasy of oneness with the heavenly Father; in the heart of Jesus all the holy resolutions of a lifetime were encouraged and strengthened, as the fashion of His countenance became changed."

We are pleased to learn there are business men in Acme who realize the advantage of keeping their printing orders for the printer in their town. The other day a canvasser called on a number of the business people soliciting printing and in nearly every case he was politely told that there was a printer in Acme whom they patronized and were thoroughly satisfied with the quality of the work he turned out. We very much appreciate the stand these men have taken in our favor. What we learn in printing, Acme reaps the benefit, whereas on the other hand, by giving their work to the other fellow all they get is a "pleasant smile" as he pockets the order and beats it for the train.

Baby's Own Tablets Declared To Be Worth Their Weight In Gold

A mother has only to use Baby's Own Tablets once to be convinced that nothing else can equal them in banishing the ills of her little ones. Once used, always used, as long as there are small children in the home—that is the tribute thousands of mothers pay the Tablets.

Among the many, many mothers who are anxious to tell of their experience with Baby's Own Tablets is Mrs. Griffith, of East Hamilton, Ont., who writes:—"Shortly after coming to Canada I began giving the Tablets to my baby boy who was then six weeks old. The result was so pleasing that since that time I have always kept the Tablets in the house. I have two children now and both of them are the picture of health. Baby's Own Tablets are the only medicine they have ever had and I really believe the Tablets to be worth their weight in gold."

Baby's Own Tablets are free from all injurious drugs and can be given to the youngest babe with absolute safety. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Small Town Papers

BY FRANK PARKER STOCKBRIDGE
Reprinted by special permission from Saturday Evening Post copyright 1928, by the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia.

"So they were," he answered. "I was raised on the farm, but I never liked it. That's why I came down to New York in the first place. And when dad died I sold the farm and bought the paper—the old Middleboro Gazette. Couldn't get the virus of printer's ink out of my system."

I waited for Bert to go on, but he said nothing more in response to my question.

"I meant your gold mine," I ventured after a moment of silence. "What sort of business have you been in? You seem to have been successful."

Bert looked at me with a puzzled expression, as if he thought I was trying to kid him. "Why, I just told you," he said. "I bought the Middleboro Gazette."

I saw at once that I must have seemed stupid to Bert. Some big industry had picked Middleboro for its plant and made the country village into a big city, as the General Electric did at Schenectady. But for the life of me I couldn't remember which industry it was. Middleboro? I couldn't think of anything to connect the name of the town with. But I didn't let on to Bert.

"Oh, I see," I responded cheerfully. "And as the town grew big enough for a daily you grew with it, eh? Fine! What's your population now, anyway?"

"About the same as it always has been; maybe a little less," he answered. "Around 2,000. But we've got a circulation of more than 3,000. Not so bad for a country weekly, what? Be a long time before Middleboro will need a daily, if any."

"Hold on a minute, Bert," I gasped. "Let me get this straight. You've been right there in Middleboro for twenty years, running a country weekly in a town of 2,000 people, and now you've retired on your income and your wife goes shopping in Fifth Avenue and—Oh, what's the use? I just can't seem to get this straight. If I hadn't known you as well as I used to, I'd think you were trying to put one over on me. Do you mean to tell me that anybody ever made that much money, or any money more than a bare living, and a poor one at that, out of a country weekly? You must have some property besides that, Bert."

"I have now, of course," he grinned back at me. "Naturally I've made investments, same as any business man does with his surplus. I've got a block of stock in the Middleboro National and some shares in the creamery and the cold-storage plant, and a few pieces of business property in the town, and one thing and another of that sort. But it all came out of the Gazette in the first place, and all I had to start with was the $3,000 mother and I got for the farm after dad died. Of course, I've plowed a lot of the profits back into the paper—have to keep a newspaper plant up to date, you know. I'll inventory now—the plant—around $25,000, and the building's worth another $10,000; goodwill and all, I wouldn't take $50,000 for the Gazette. It earns now around 40 per cent. on that figure, and you've no idea how far $20,000 a year will go in a town the size of Middleboro."

"I'll go a long way in New York," I conceded. "What's gets me, though, Bert, is the idea that there's any such money, or the half of it, to be made out of any country weekly paper, anywhere, any time. As my old Yankee granddad used to say, it beats my time. You're sure you're making that out of the paper, not out of the job-printing business?"

I must give Bert credit for being good-natured. He always was; and besides, he'd always liked me in the old days and he knew I liked him a lot. Some men would have got mad to be questioned that way, but he knew I was friendly and interested.

"The job-printing business accounts for about a quarter of it," he said, answering my latter question first. "Job printing's a minor item in a modern country newspaper office instead of being the main reliance, as it used to be. It's a specialty that hasn't got anything really to do with making a newspaper. Fact is, my younger boy, they're both with me in the business now, running the shop—the younger one, Joe, has got an idea he could do better with the job plant if he had it out under its own roof, and we're fixing now to incorporate that separately and let him see what he can make of it. But the old Gazette, standing alone on its own hind legs, has pulled down better than $15,000 a year net for me every year for the past five or six years, and it's getting better all the time."

"Yes, you're right," he went on. "It does beat your time. It's a new thing, this development of the country weekly into a remunerative industry, instead of a hazardous gamble, with the odds all against the editor and publisher, as it used to be. It wasn't any too easy the first few years I had the Gazette, though I always took down more than I needed to live on right from the start. And it isn't like taking candy from a baby now—get me right on that. A man's got to know the business and work at it same as any other business. But if he does that I don't know any busi-

One night Professor Gazor, the great astronomer noticed through his telescope that various stars in one of the great constellations had different numbers of points to them. He was able to group these odd stars. This discovery so startled the scientific world that it was decided to find out what it all meant. After tremendous research it was decided that one of the planets was using this method to send the world an important message. By mathematical calculation Professor Gazor was able to decipher the message. His colleagues naturally wanted to know all about it, but he would not give them the message. He told them to work it out for themselves.

How He Did It

"You will notice," the professor told them, "some stars have three points, others four points, some five, or six points, etc. The number of points each star has determines what letter of the word of the message that star stands for. For instance if a star has three points it is the letter a. However, if it has four points it is either d, e, or f. Some stars represent only one letter, some 2 letters and some 3 letters. I have worked out the table code for you, now you count the number of points on each star and try to find what letter each star stands for, by referring to the table code. I have correctly arranged the stars so that each row of stars spells a word of the message. In order to help you a bit the first word is 'Greatest.'"

YUKON ENTERS FEDERAL OLD AGE PENSION PLAN

Ottawa.—Yukon has entered the federal old-age pensions scheme. George I. MacLean, newly appointed gold commissioner of the Yukon Territory, has affixed his signature to an agreement with the Dominion Government to participate in the federal plan.

An order-in-council will shortly be passed by cabinet council, in accordance with the established procedure, authorizing Hon. Peter Heenan, minister of labor, to sign for the federal government.

Yukon Territory is the second to join in the federal old-age pensions scheme passed at the last sessions of the Dominion Parliament. Several months ago British Columbia, through Hon. A. M. Manson, provincial minister of labor, executed an agreement with Mr. Heenan along similar lines to that with Yukon.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan are now negotiating with Mr. Heenan; and it is probable that these two provinces will shortly also come under the federal plan. Legislation to enter into negotiations was recently passed by the legislatures of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The signature of Gold Commissioner MacLean was affixed under authority of an ordinance passed at the last session of the Yukon Legislature.

A Great Aid To the West

Building Of Railways To Outlying Parts Proves Big Factor

Toronto.—"One of the greatest things the Liberal Government ever did was the building of railroads to outlying parts of the country, such as the Hudson's Bay Railway and new lines into the northern part of Western Canada," said C. R. McIntosh, M.P. for North Battleford, and proprietor of the North Battleford News, at a luncheon given by the Toronto Men's Liberal Association.

Years ago, he continued, Canadians flocked across the border, as there were no railroads in the back country. Today lines were being constructed and the result was that the country was filling up with good families from all over the world. Speaking of immigration, Mr. McIntosh said his district was populated by people from all parts of the world. "These people," he said, "who have toiled and labored to make homes for themselves must be given a place in the governing of our country. Otherwise in the future we will encounter trouble."

The sentence did not imply dismissal from the service and means that the commander will remain on half pay until it pleases the admiralty to appoint him to another ship or another post.

Sir Robert considered Premier Baldwin safe in being returned to power and the Liberal party, he thought, would be solid under Lloyd George. The latter, he said, was the only leader available.

NO CHANGE IN BRITISH POLICY TOWARD EGYPT

Manchester, Eng.—Sir William Joynson-Hicks, secretary of the home office, told the Cotton Spinners' Association that the latest Egyptian note would work no change in British policy. He said:

"It is true we have received a somewhat foolish despatch from the Egyptian Government. But I ask you to put your faith in His Majesty's government, and realize that this despatch will mean no change in British policy. A reply to the Egyptian Government will be made shortly."

Sir William also said that he looked forward to the time when Lancashire would be independent of the cotton supplies from the "great west" and would get all its cotton from the British Empire.

Cairo, Egypt.—Premier Nahas explained to Cairo newspaper representatives briefly, Egypt's position with regard to Great Britain.

"In our note to Great Britain," he said, "we have striven on the one side to uphold our country's rights, and on the other to maintain unimpaired our friendly relations with Great Britain."

The note in question was Egypt's rejoinder to the British Government's latest note on the rejection by Egypt of the proposed treaty.

In his explanation the premier dealt solely with Egypt's rejection of the British claim to the right of interference with Egyptian legislation and with Egypt's ability unaided to protect foreigners. Nahas laid stress on his desire to prepare the way for "real friendship."

The Farmyard Hen Produced In Canada Last Year Over 253 Million Dozen Of Eggs

Some one has figured that if the eggs laid in Canada in 1927 were placed end to end they would girdle the universe four and a half times. It certainly staggers the imagination to comprehend over three million eggs or 115,000 miles of them. And these are the farm eggs only. Dear knows how many more thousands of miles should be added for the eggs laid in poultry houses in the cities and suburban areas in Canada, but the number must be considerable. All of them, whether from farm or city, disappear down the national gullet at the rate of 6,000 per minute. The rate is of course much faster at meal times, for these figures are on a 24-hour basis. Still there are not enough to satisfy the national appetite and some eggs have to be imported into Canada.

Canadians are the greatest egg-eaters on the face of the globe and consumption has been increasing tremendously, especially since egg-grading regulations came into force. It is estimated that Canadians now consume something like 337 eggs per capita per annum. Production of farm eggs in 1927 equalled 320 eggs per capita. While production is increasing rapidly, principally through the breeding of better hens rather than increasing the flocks, consumption is increasing at a still more rapid rate as indicated by the excess of imports over exports of eggs.

Canada imported roughly 3 1/4 million dozen eggs in 1927, and exported less than half a million dozen. Excess of imports over exports rose by a million dozen over the previous year. These are figures on eggs in the shell. Eggs other than in the shell or n.o.p. as they are shown in trade statistics, are also imported into Canada in some volume, especially in recent years. Most of the eggs in this class come from China and the total amount imported in 1927 amounted to slightly over 2 million pounds, compared with 1.3 million pounds in the previous year.

The unfavorable trade balance resulting from excess of imports over exports of eggs amounted to roughly $1,700,000 in 1927. This is an increase over 1926 of upwards of a million dollars. Considered by themselves these figures may appear large but they fade away by comparison with a farm egg production in 1927 of over 253 million dozen valued at over $80,000,000. The long and short of it is that Canada just barely failed to meet her egg requirements last year by about 3 1/2 in-the-shell eggs per capita to which must be added the importations of preserved eggs amounting to perhaps two eggs per capita. Domestic egg production failed to meet the national appetite therefore by roughly one-half dozen per capita—a trifling amount it is true, but the shortage is increasing.

What is the outlook? Can Canada meet her own egg requirements in the future? Can she regain her lost export trade in eggs? In regard to the first of these questions, farm egg production is increasing very rapidly, in fact there has been a gain of fifty per cent. since 1921. In the same time the number of hens etc. on Canadian farms has increased by only 35 per cent., showing that the production per hen has increased considerably since 1921, due to the rearing of better birds for egg-production. The process of weeding out undesirable birds and substituting hens of proven high-production strain appears to have borne excellent results in the past year, an increase of 6.8 per cent. in production being recorded for 1927 over 1926, while the number of hens etc. in farm flocks increased by only one-sixth of one per cent. Even without increasing the farm flocks the industrious biddies of 1927 just about kept up with increasing population and the increasing appetite of Canadians for eggs. There is still room for very great improvement in the farm flocks from the egg-production standpoint, but the process cannot go on indefinitely and the farm flocks must eventually be increased to keep up domestic supplies of eggs if consumption per capita goes on climbing.

If Canada had the eggs, she could no doubt find a market for them in Great Britain, says the Department of the Interior, through its Natural Resources Intelligence Service. In fact the market for her surplus eggs has always been there, but since 1902 the exportable surplus has never amounted to much. But just imagine the magnitude of the market in the United Kingdom and what could be done with poultry in Canada if prices were attractive. The United Kingdom spent over $90,000,000 a year on imported eggs in 1925 and 1926. The Imperial Economic Committee reports that requirements from home and Empire sources are 5,700 million eggs a year or 475 million dozen—nearly twice Canada's farm egg production—this with a consumption of only 125 eggs per capita. The system of uniform grading and government certification to which they have been subjected has enabled Canada's eggs to command a premium over all other eggs on the British market. If enough of them were to be had, John Bull might contest Jack Canuck's title to champion egg-eater of the world. But as it is only 5 out of every thousand eggs consumed in Great Britain, according to last reports, come from Canada. The United Kingdom itself supplies 433; Irish Free State, 95; China, 138; Denmark, 121; Russia, 47; Netherlands, 35; Poland, 22; Egypt, 22; Belgium, 21. South Africa supplies 5 and Australia 3, so that Canada does not rank behind the other British Dominions, but what a big thing it might be for Canada if she could get a big slice of this egg trade and especially if consumption per capita increases as it has in Canada.

Canada's Matchless Advantage In Relation To The Growing Tourist Trade From U. S.

If the volume of United States tourist travel continues to grow at anything like its recent rate, it will be only a matter of two or three years until the amount of money expended by Americans abroad reaches the colossal sum of a thousand million dollars a year. For 1926, according to the United States Department to roughly $260,000,000 a year. And there is ample reason to believe that this total can be doubled in the next ten years. Canada possesses an endless variety of attractions for holiday seekers of all kinds, plus a 4,000-mile frontage facing the country which constitutes the world's wealthiest and largest source of tourist travel. Tak-of Commerce, the outlay of American tourists was roundly $761,000,000—or nearly twice as much as the Dominion Government collects in tax revenues in an ordinary year.

Canada's position in relation to this trade is one of matchless advantage. Already our tourist business represents a big item, the expenditures of tourists in the Dominion amounting en all in all, there is probably no other country so favorably situated for attracting tourist trade.

The warm welcome which Canadians extend to visitors is an ever-growing influence in directing travel toward the Dominion. Those who come gladly return again and bring their friends with them.—Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior.

B.C. Lumber Production

Lumber production in British Columbia in 1927 totalled 740,230,000 feet board measure, an increase of 27,500,000 feet over 1926. The principal export markets for British Columbia lumber and forest products were the United States and Japan. The value of the lumber production in the province last year is placed at $83,078,000.

Garden Roses

Five Hundred Varieties Have Been Tested Out In Canada

Roses have been under test at the Central Experimental Farm for forty years, and observations on the relative hardiness, attractiveness, blooming season, freedom from disease, and general merits of different varieties have been made and recorded. Some 500 varieties are now being grown in the flower gardens of the farm. The results of these years of investigation are given in a bulletin entitled "Hardy Roses" which is distributed by the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. An interesting list of roses recommended for small gardens is given in the bulletin. They are all varieties which have been grown successfully at Ottawa. Among the roses in the list are three Hybrid Perpetuals of outstanding merit. One, Frau Karl Druschki, is acknowledged to be the finest white rose in cultivation. It is a strong, healthy grower with an abundance of bloom throughout most of the season. Another very popular hybrid perpetual is Mrs. John Laing, a rosy pink, fragrant variety which does well in town gardens. The third variety is the Hugh Dickson, a very attractive crimson, shaded scarlet flower, vigorous, and a free bloomer.

Hybrid Tea Roses recommended are Caroline Testout, a reliable, bright warm pink variety, Gruss and Teplitz, a very fragrant and hardy crimson rose, and La Tosca, a pale pink. Perpetual roses recommended are: Mme. Edouard Heriot, a free vigorous bloomer with a wonderful combination of coloring, Souvenir de Claudius Pernet, a beautiful yellow flower, and Willowmere, a hardy, continuous bloomer of unusual color.

World's Grain Show

Promoters of the proposed World's grain show to be held at Regina, Saskatchewan, in 1932, are forwarding their plans as rapidly as possible. The Saskatchewan legislature and the Regina Industrial and Agricultural Association have endorsed the project, and the federal government will now be approached with view of getting its approval and support.

Photos show the huge area covered by the railway tracks of the Canadian Pacific Railway around the harbour of Vancouver, also the new elevators recently constructed.

Over one hundred miles of track- age will shortly have been laid by the Canadian Pacific Railway in serving the ports of the Vancouver District, as shown by the extent of the works now underway about that city.

An indication of the programme of extension of the already multifold trackage facilities is given in the plans being carried out at Pier B-C at the foot of Granville Street, and in the proposed new C.P.R. yard at the south end of the second Narrows Bridge, and of the allowance for further additions when necessary.

Mr. C. A. Cotterell, C.P.R. General Superintendent, has issued figures demonstrating the vast extent of ex-istant trackage facilities exclusive of main and subsidiary lines running through the yards for the passage of through and local trains, serving Vancouver and her sister ports.

On the north shore to the south end of the second Narrows Bridge, the C.P.R. has more than 9 miles of trackage. From the south end of the second Narrows Bridge to Coal Harbor are another 27 miles. The False Creek Yard comprises 27 miles, and the south False Creek Yard has between three and four miles. In the Coquitlam Terminal Yards, serving both Vancouver and New Westminster, there are 22 miles of trackage, with yard capacity for double that mileage should it become necessary.

Another four miles of yard rails lie west of the Fraser River Bridge.

This trackage, so far as the C.P.R. is concerned, is not only taking care of a steady and normal growth in trade through the great port, but also handling an abnormal expansion in westward grain movement. Additions have been made and others will be necessary to care for this growing westbound traffic, which reached a peak in the crop season of 1927-28. The Canadian Pacific's first westward wheat shipments were made in 1922, attained more than 50,000 bushels in 1923-24, and reached the record this spring of 53,000,000 bushels shipped through the port before the end of February.

CHAPTER JGL.—Continued.

Thus appealed to, Danny Corbett went over to the couch and carefully inspected the young thing that was likely to make inroads in his hard earned income. He put his chapped and dirty little hand very lightly on the glassy, smooth head, and felt its tiny beat. He gently touched the velvety cheek and found it soft as a rose-leaf to his fingers. He put his hand in his pocket and drew out thirty cents in change and looked hard at it. He may have been thinking of cold winds and aching legs—he knew something of them. But his answer was, "Sure Mike! I'll do it. Are you pretty sure your mother will die, Ma?" Danny's tone was eager.

"We ain't wishin' her mother no harm, Ma," Rosie quickly interposed, seeing the rebuke that was coming to her business partner. "We ain't wishin' nobody no harm." Rosie was very anxious not to prejudice the case. "But we know there is always a danger—you know yourself, Ma, that none of us knows one day from another—we're here today and away tomorrow, as I have often heard you say—and Danny and me are just talkin' it over in case somethin' should happen—that's all."

The warm heart of Maggie Corbett was tender to her offspring at that moment. "Look at that, John, would you? Good little things, after all, and yet it was only this mornin' they were fightin' like drunken shantymen. I often thought if they had had a baby in the house it might have softened them. Well, don't be settin' your hearts on this wee one, for her mother is not goin' to die, I don't think; though you never can tell about a woman when her man has gone back on her."

Outside the snow was still falling. The evergreen trees were bending with the weight of it, their branches hanging down like great white bears' paws. Christmas Eve surged forward with all its infectious gladness as the crowds of belated shoppers increased. The electric fans in the windows were hard pressed to keep back the shooting frost ferns, which threatened to hide the season's offerings. Handsome cutters, with beautiful robes thrown over the backs of the seats, stopped at the curb to let out hurrying shoppers; delivery boys on foot, on wheels, in wagons, loaded with parcels, hurried to the suburbs of the city, sometimes pausing to look in at uncurtained windows where happy families gathered around sparkling tables—families so happy over the arrival of guests that they forgot to draw the blinds and so allowed some of their happiness to overflow into the street. Rosy shaded lamps threw patches of radiance on the glistening snow. Christmas wreaths tied with satin streamers glowed deeply red against the windows. The pulse of the city was beating with laughter and sleighbells.

At the corner of Second Street and Jasper Avenue a congested street car stopped to let out a flock of little girls and boys on their way to the Christmas tree in the First Baptist Church. Certain of the little girls, with their curls protected from the falling snow by being tucked safely away under their toques, were carrying mysterious pasteboard boxes containing sashes and bows and wings for the fairies. Others of them were darkly hooded and masked, their identity and sex entirely unguessed, for were they not cast for the dreadful witches of Shadowland? Accompanying them was a liberal sprinkling of parents, mostly mothers, with a few self-conscious fathers who had the appearance of having been dragged out. The mothers had an air of very conscious unconcern, as if they did not know their little boys or girls were going to take a part that was bound to be the very best thing on the program.

The Salvation Army Citadel blazed with light and pulsed with activity, for the big supper, where all were welcome, was going on, and the odors of turkey and sage and onions, drifting out into the street, compelled the reluctant ones to go in.

At midnight, when the bells were ringing, the snow suddenly stopped in that abrupt Alberta way. The city's lights were so many and so bright against the deep India blue of the sky, it was hard to tell them from the stars, but high overhead was to be seen the North Star, beloved of all bewildered travellers. Now it twinkled and gleamed above all these scenes of good fellowship and merry-making with unmistakable approval. Into the uncurtained window of the Corbett's big room it peered with a deeper interest and kinder understanding, for it could see that the Winnipeg couch was drawn out from the wall to make it into a full-sized bed, and in it there slept the unperturbed young Lill with Rose Corbett on one side of her and Daniel Corbett on the other—her two new friends, who had covenanted in her presence and in the presence of each other to furnish her with shelter, care and sustenance in the event of her mother's death. Rose and Daniel Corbett—the underwriters!

CHAPTER XXII.

It was Christmas afternoon when Helmi awakened—Christmas afternoon, the very sound of which brings pictures of children playing with trains on living-room floors, satisfied with turkey and candy, starry-eyed with presents, numb with surprises and joy. Christmas afternoon! Of all the spicy, perfumed, sparkling glorious afternoons of the year the most dazzling and glorious; not merely an afternoon or a day that can be marked on a calendar or divided into hours like other afternoons—not that at all. Christmas afternoon is an atmosphere, a perfume, a sensation, a feeling, a spiritual experience.

It was Christmas afternoon when Helmi awakened. Number 18 in the North Star Rooming House did not suggest festivity, with its bare, buff walls, dull gray paint, elm dresser, iron bed, bare floor, with one strip of Japanese matting worn in the middle down to the threads. But Helmi was not left entirely without home gleam of Christmas, for Rose and Danny who were going to the Salvation Army Cantata that night, went singing down the hall:

"Away in a manger, no crib for a bed,

The little Lord Jesus laid down His sweet head," and it brought to Helmi's mind the Christmas story; and because her own heart was more tender than it had ever been, owing to the rise and fall of the little white veil which covered Lill's face, she loved the little Christ Child more than ever, and thought of Him and His pale mother as they lay there in the manger with the noise of cattle all around them.

"The stars in the sky looked down where He lay,

The little Lord Jesus, asleep on the hay."

Rosie, just outside the door, was singing as she 'did' the lineatum in the hall with dustless mop; Danny was working farther down the hall.

Helmi was awakened from her dream by the entrance of a little man with a slender black bag in his hand. He came in without knocking, and stood at the bottom of the bed regarding her critically. Before he could frame a question Mrs. Corbett had arrived, having seen the Doctor's car at the front door.

Mrs. Russell, who lived in No. 16 and did the cleaning in the City Hall, and therefore knew something of the correct forms of procedure, had notified the Department of the happening in No. 18. Dr. Symond came over at once. No one likes to be disturbed on Christmas afternoon, when the delicious sizzle of a turkey pulsates in the atmosphere of the house and one has just helped to put two leaves in the dining-room table. Dr. Symond was prepared to be quite stern. Indeed, as a representative of the city authorities how could he help being stern with these unregulated young women who leave their babies on the steps of the City Hall, so to speak. It was becoming entirely too common, and the Property Owners' Association at their last meeting were complaining about it; properly so, too, for they were the people who had to pay the bills. Everyone when in need rushed to the City—widows looking for help—unemployed—homeless—unfortunate girls—all come to the City.

Canada needs a larger population, but to bring in people for whom proper provision has not been made beforehand will only complicate the situation. Those who are for settlers at any price do not think out the results of their policy.

Salesman For Face Cream Learns a Good Lesson

Mr. Vandivier, New York, writes: "I was a salesman of creams for healing pimples, blemishes, etc., but when my face broke out with blotches, pimples and blackheads, I tried one after another with no results. Finally I decided I would have to get at the cause—constipation. I was amazed to find that within a few days after taking your vegetable laxative pills for constipation my skin took on a new healthy look."

IT TAKES A SHARP BLADE

Healthy beards can be removed most easily with a sharp blade. So, too, can Hercules Permanent Building Paper be cut. It doesn't tear easily.

For this reason alone, carpenters and builders prefer Hercules. When using, handle it as roughly as you like. Hercules will not tear or crack. Hercules allows greater speed in using.

For various purposes, Hercules is made in three grades—x light, xx medium, xxx heavy. All grades are tested and proven wind proof and damp proof. A sample gladly sent on request.

Teeth and Health

THE BABY TEETH

How many should there be? "Ten little fingers and ten little toes"—making twenty in all—and there you have their number. Easy to remember isn't it?

And when should you begin to look for them? About the sixth or seventh month.

And which comes first? As a rule, the lower front teeth, the central incisor.

So after all baby's fretfulness he has a brand new tooth or two, so white and so sound they look, that you never give a thought to future tooth troubles.

Then the other eighteen or nineteen white coated little "millers" will follow at somewhat regular intervals until Sonny is two years old, when he should have his full temporary set.

These are the temporary or deciduous teeth, being known also as the "milk teeth," from which you will be aware, of course, that they won't be retained right through adult age. They should all remain in place, however, until about the seventh year, when, through the natural process of shedding, they commence to be lost.

Then as the time approaches for the eruption of the second set, unless the first teeth are sufficiently separated in front to allow one or two thicknesses of blotting paper between them, the arches have not properly expanded and the second set is certain to be crowded and irregular. In such a case, the family dentist should always be consulted.

Since Sonny is going to lose these small teeth in good time and get a nice new set, why bother to care for them?

Well, little Sonny does not want a tooth-ache any more than do you, and for several other good reasons of which more to follow.

Little Helps For This Week

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."—Rev. ii. 10.

Why should our spirits be oppressed When days of darkness fall? Our Father knoweth what is best, And He hath made them all.

He made them, and to all their length Sets parallels of gain; We gather from our pain the strength To rise above our pain.

—Alice Cary.

God, who in mercy and wisdom governs the world, would never have suffered so many sadnesses, and have sent them especially to the most virtuous and wisest men, but that He intends they should be the seminary of comfort, the nursery of virtue, the exercise of wisdom, the trial of patience, the venturing for a crown, and the crown of glory.—Jeremy Taylor.

RELIGIOUS GATHERING TO BE HELD JUNE 4th to 17th

The people of Carbon and community have a real treat in store for them some time not so very far distant. The United church through its minister, Rev. C. B. Oakley, and his Official Board, are arranging for a very special Evangelistic Campaign.

Beginning on Monday, the fourth day of June, meetings will be held every day except Saturdays, and will be addressed by such outstanding men as Rev. H. H. Bingham
D.D., of First Baptist Church, Calgary, Rev. Geo. A. Dickson, B. D. of Knox Church, Calgary; Rev. G.
W. Kerby, B. A., D.D., of Mount
Royal College, Calgary; Rev. H.
W. Avison M.A., B.D., of Central United Church Calgary and Rev.
W. E. McNiven B. A., of Wesley United, Calgary. In addition to the men mentioned, all of the nearby ministers will be invited to take part.

These services will continue until Sunday, June 17, and it is hoped that everyone will make their plans so that they will be able to attend these gatherings.

Carbon is an ideal spot for a gathering such as this. Situated as it is in the beautiful Knee Hill valley, where camping accommodation is all that could be desired; where are to be found up to minute business houses managed by men who are second to none in their line.

There is a splendid hotel of thirty-five rooms with one of the best dining rooms to be found at many larger centers. Garage accommodation is of the first order, where "service is the watchword."

All roads will lead to Carbon from June 4th. to 17th.

On Sunday quite a few of the ardent golfers played around the golf course and reported the links to be in good condition with practically no snow at all to hinder the game.
With the course in the condition it is in this year it will take very little work to put it in first class shape.

The prize list for the Irricana School Fair have been distributed this week and the committee in charge have added quite a few more articles this year.
